The Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

DREW PEARSON

(Note—While Drew Pearson is on vacation, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson contributes a guest column.)

By CLINTON P. ANDERSON
Secretary of Agriculture

WASHINGTON. — The first Sunday after V-J Day, a friend came by with an automobile to take my family and his for a drive into the country to have dinner with another friend. Nothing like that had happened in years. We were all delighted at the chance to ride through country lanes, to talk about the height of the corn, the possibilities of crops, and the probability that we would enjoy meat for dinner.

But as we started back into Washington, we could not help but notice that the roads were filling up. There was a long line of traffic and many folks drove by at speeds which seemed reckless to us. They were perhaps driving 40 or 45 miles an hour and we had become accustomed to the 35-mile an hour leisurely gait.

When one speeding car swirled past us, I heard my wife murmur, "My, what I wouldn't give to have gasoline rationing back."

I began to wonder how many of the things that war had brought to us as sacrifices or privations we would soon come to appreciate as blessings in disguise. I began to wonder how long it would be before people would sometimes sigh for some of the real advantages of the days during the war when we all lived a little closer together, a little more simply, and perhaps a little more in the traditional American pattern that had started this country on its way to becoming a great nation.

Real Values of Life.

Do you remember back in the years of the depression that Henry Ansley out in Amarillo, Texas, wrote a book entitled, "I Like the Depression"? Frankly, I liked his little book, because he told of the blessings that had come to him with a reversal in his financial situation. He told of the discoveries that he had made as the period of wild prosperity passed and the long months of depression set in. He told of the farmers who had gone back to living on their farms instead of living off their farms.

The war has done something to all of us. It made us appreciate some of the real values of life that many of us had lost sight of. We all complained a little about the war, didn't we? We were a little disappointed when we found that the stocks of new cars were frozen, but we discovered that the old car was a lot better and would run a lot longer than we had thought.

Car-Pool Neighbors.

I remember my first experience with a car pool. We had two automobiles at our house; our next door neighbor had two automobiles at his place. We were not well acquainted, mostly because it wasn't necessary, until the war came along. Then my next door neighbor and I and two others, who heretofore had gone to our offices by separate means, found ourselves fused together into a car pool. We were irrevocably tied to each other. We had to rise at the same time in the morning, leave at the same hour for work, and return home together in the evening.

I am sure that at first we all resented a little the fact that we lost our freedom of action, but we gained a great lesson in neighborliness. We found out that the people who lived next to us might be just as interesting and attractive, just as pleasant and just as companionable as the people whom we had always known who lived down the street or across the city.

Victory Garden Blessing.

How many women improved their figures as they walked to market! And think what Victory gardens did for the men!

Like Drew Pearson, I will perhaps be away from Washington when this column is printed, away on a short vacation. While I am gone, someone will be mowing my lawn. During the war I had to mow my own lawn. I couldn't find anyone interested in taking care of my particular little piece of property. And a strange thing happened: I found that I could mow it as well as anyone else, that I could mow it quickly, and that I could learn within a short time exactly how each particular section could be best mowed to develop the best cut of grass. And I found out also that when I mowed it myself, I not only improved the lawn, I improved my own digestion.

I'll miss that now that the war is over, because I'll tell myself that I'm too busy to do it when I can hire someone else for the job. I suppose that my wife will miss something, too, because she used to walk to market and carry her groceries back home in a basket.

As for myself, I reflect upon the fact that an automobile salesman used to be able to sell me a new car each year. But when the war came I learned that automobiles will go 50,000 or 100,000 miles and still be pretty dependable as a means of transportation.

Reception Held For Congregational Minister

Members of the Congregational church entertained in honor of their new minister, Rev. Robert Carlson, with a reception on Sunday, September 9 from 5 to 8 p. m. Mrs. Frank Cutting was general chairman for the affair and was assisted by the Guild and the Sigma Sigmas.

Serving about the rooms were a group of young girls which included the Misses Margaret Currie, Jeanne Currie, Katharine Fuller, Georgiana Newcomb and Jean Jensen.

Mrs. David Sanders was in charge of the musical program and also furnished the accompaniment for Miss Fuller's flute solo. Others on the program were Miss Lorraine Wood and Miss Virginia Grattan.

Out of town guests at the affair were Mrs. Cora Eckles whose husband was at one time minister at the Congregational church here, Rev. and Mrs. Stephen C. Peabody of San Jose; Miss Sadie Maxson and Mrs. Gertrude Stanfield of Oakland, formerly of Campbell.

Campbell Man Takes Bride

Miss Merle E. Bacigalupi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bacigalupi of San Francisco, was married on Sunday, September 2 to Petty Officer Laurence Hastings Beal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Beal of Campbell. The ceremony took place at 5 in the afternoon in the St. Peter and Paul Cathedral in San Francisco with Rev. Father Costanza officiating.

Only members of the two families and a few close friends were present. Mrs. John McGovern, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and the groom's brother, Herbert H. Beal, U. S. Merchant Marine, was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her father. A wedding dinner at the Palace Hotel followed the wedding.

After a sojourn at Emerald Bay on Lake Tahoe, the young couple will be at home at 1073 Union street, San Francisco.

Camp Fire Training Course

A Leadership training course will be given at the Scout Hall on North Third street on Tuesday morning, September 18, from 9 to 11:45 a. m. While this course is primarily for Camp Fire and Bluebird leaders anyone interested in any kind of youth leadership or craft work is invited to come.

Another date which will be announced later will complete this course given free of charge by the Santa Clara County Camp Fire Girls Council. Executives who will be in charge are Miss Lois Young and Miss Dolores Nance.

Former Resident Enjoys Paper

Irving Townsend, who has been located at Astec, New Mexico, for the past year, in a letter to the former editor speaks of the pleasure that he and Mrs. Townsend find in news of Campbell friends in The Campbell Press.

He writes that the year had been an enjoyable one. He says "Travel to this National Monument (where he is a government ranger), is increasing as travel restrictions are being removed. Although at present still considerably below normal, we are looking forward to heavy 'visitor use' in the not too distant future."

Their 11 year old daughter, March Leigh is in school which began August 24, but Irving Jr., 5 years old, is at home.

He and Mrs. Townsend send their regards to their friends here.

Kiwanis Hear Shipboard Tale

In the absence of the guest speaker for the regular Tuesday Kiwanis luncheon, Jack Murdock read "Philippine Interlude," a portrayal of life aboard a cargo ship in the Philippine theater. Written by the lieutenant in charge of the gun crew on the USS Atwater, it held a great deal of interest for the members of the Kiwanis because Lowell Benson, a member of the club, was serving as purser on the same ship.

The final Ladies Night will be held Tuesday evening, September 18 at 6:45 o'clock.

Capt. Harold Cramer will speak, giving his impressions and experiences overseas with the Army Medical Corps. Captain Cramer is the son of D. H. Cramer, instructor at the high school and member of the club.

Visitors at the Tuesday luncheon were Bert Erickson and George Sohler of the Mt. View Kiwanis club, and Rev. Robert Carlson, Harry Arndt and Martin Allen of Campbell.

Canning Center Open At San Jose

Campbell women who do not wish to can at home may take their fruit to the Community Canning Center, Washington Grammar School, San Jose. This center is sponsored by the city school department and the Adult Center cooperating with the State Department of Education and the Federal Government. L. E. Cross is Supervisor of the project, assisted by Miss Isobel Heath and Proctor Lowell.

Work may be done in the evening but appointments must be made first by telephoning Ballard 641. Women are urged not to forget their sugar and a smock or apron. The Center supplies the tins and the processing cost is eight cents a tin can. Sharp knives and corers are available for use.

Chester L. Linden Receives Navy Award

Chester L. Linden of Campbell, who is now serving on the 52,000 ton battleship Wisconsin of the Iowa class, has been promoted to seaman first class, USNR, by the commanding officer for outstanding initiative and ability in his assigned duty. His mother, Mrs. Jennie E. Tierney, resides at Route No. 2, Latimer avenue.

The Campbell man was a participant in the recent pre-invasion warship bombardment of Muroran, Japan, where the mighty 16-inch guns of the "Big W" pounded into dust and rubble one of the enemy's key war industries. For his part in this historic naval bombardment, Linden received a Captain's "Meritorious Mast." This is now a part of his official war record.

He has won the right to wear the following campaign ribbons: American Area Service Ribbon, Asiatic-Pacific Area Ribbon, with three stars, and the Philippine Liberation Ribbon.

Mel Genasci Receives Discharge

Chief Warrant Officer Mel Genasci has received his discharge after 33 months in the China-India-Burma theater and is at present visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Genasci Sr., 163 North Central avenue. While overseas he was stationed at Calcutta, New Delhi, and various places on the Burma road. He attended elementary school in Campbell, high school and State College in San Jose and prior to the war was employed by the Western Electric Company in San Francisco.

A granddaughter of the Genascis, Miss Nadine Genasci, has also been visiting them and her brother. Miss Genasci has been living in Chicago for the past several months where she was employed at the Edgewater Beach Hotel doing office work. She left on Saturday to make her home in San Luis Obispo.

Before coming west, Miss Genesci visited her twin brother, Donald, who is hospitalized at Truax Field, Madison, Wisconsin. A member of the Air Corps, he was injured when his plain crashed in Oklahoma several months ago.

Mrs. Helen Gould Neville of Stockton, formerly of this city and sister of Miss Lois Gardner of the Campbell high school faculty, entrained Sunday at San Jose for Los Angeles where she will spend a few days before leaving for New York to meet her son Ryan, who will be on furlough.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Dano have bought Mrs. Viola Klassen's home adjoining the Congregatoinal church property and are moving in this week.

High School Names Teachers

All new students, planning to enroll in the Campbell Union High School are asked to call at the school during next week by Principal James Dent. Any students wishing to make changes in their programs may do so during this period from September 17 to September 21 inclusive between 10 a. m. and 12:30 as school councilors will be in their offices for this purpose.

Five new teachers have been added to the staff and will take up their duties when school opens September 24. One of these, Mrs. Florence Horton, is not new to Campbell Union High students for she taught mathematics here from 1941 to 1944. Mrs. Horton is returning to the teaching profession while her husband is serving overseas. In addition to mathematics she will teach typing this year.

Albert P. Smith is also well known in Campbell. He is the son of Stanley Smith of Vasona Junction and taught last year at Manteca High School. His subject will be agriculture.

John W. Meischke will teach science and history. He is a graduate of the University of California and has been teaching previously at Abraham Lincoln High School in San Jose.

Meischke replaces Miss Claribel Boesch who is retiring after 27 years of teaching science, chemistry and biology in the Campbell Union High. She will make her home in San Jose and plans on doing many of the things she has never had time to accomplish.

Jack Flanagan Wins Combat Award

With the 32nd Infantry Division in Northern Luzon, P. I.—The victory announcement cut short the combat career of Pfc Jack Flanagan of Campbell, but the 32nd (Red Arrow) Division doughboy still had time to earn his Combat Infantryman Badge in an advance up a ridge line in which his company killed 21 Japs without losing a man.

The action took place in the mountains bordering the Cagayan Valley on Northern Luzon shortly after Flanagan was assigned to the division. A rifleman with the 126th Infantry Regiment of the 32nd, he is now engaged in educational and athletic activities. Those of his fellow Red Arrowmen who are returning home for demobilization have fought through six operations during 40 months of Pacific warfare.

Before entering the Army in August 1944, Flanagan was a metal worker at Permanente Metals Corporation, near San Jose. His father, John Flanagan, lives in Lavaca, Arkansas.

Attorney and Mrs. Martin S. Walsh of 318 North Harrison Avenue spent Admission Day week-end holiday at Lake Tahoe.

Campbell Girl Serves In Canal Zone

A Campbell girl, Miss Margaret Elizabeth (Betty) Grass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Grass of 62 Thornton Way, has arrived in the Panama Canal Zone where she will serve as assistant program director for the Red Cross.

Miss Grass graduated from San Jose State college in 1943 where she majored in physical education. Before joining the Red Cross, she served as the Junior Boys' Building Secretary at the Y.M.C.A. in San Jose and then as hostess at the air field in Santa Maria.

During her Red Cross training course last May, she was one of the two girls, selected from the 100 in the group, for advanced training. While waiting for her overseas assignment, Miss Grass taught a Red Cross course in Washington, D. C.

Her mother who is employed at the James Grain Company in San Jose has received several letters from her daughter, and says she is enthusiastic about her work and about the country there.

The new Red Cross worker has two brothers in the service, one of whom, Fred A. Grass Jr. is a seaman first class, stationed at Pearl Harbor. The other brother, Pfc Wilmer (Al) Grass is a swimming instructor in the Medical Corps at Brooke's Convalescent Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Joseph G. Jelcick Receives Air Medal

Far East Air Forces, Philippines—Second Lieutenant Joseph G. Jelcick of Campbell, one of the many airmen responsible for the recent allied victory, has been awarded the Air Medal by General George C. Kenney, commanding the Far East Air Forces, for operational missions in the Southwest Pacific area.

These flights consisted of transporting troops and supplies to forward positions in unarmed transport aircraft.

Lieutenant Jelcick's wife, Mrs. Patricia L. Jelcick, resides at 23 Thornton Way.

Funeral services were held yesterday in San Jose for Joseph S. Mello, brother of Mrs. Rose Silvia of Campbell.

EDITORIAL

The early historical records of the Santa Clara Valley recount the fact that some of the first settlers were sailors who had traveled the world over but found no place as beautiful and fertile as this valley. It is understandable that their descendants, born and reared in the rich lushness of the valley, should carry on the tradition of love and loyalty for this part of the country and it is commendable that with this affection for their locality they have also a warm hospitality and an eagerness to share the beauties of nature found in such glorious abundance here. The new management of The Campbell Press has found in the Orchard City a warm and gracious welcome with a very special flavor all its own.

Californians should take pride in the saying that the most ardent boosters for the state are those who have come from elsewhere. Like the sailors in the early part of the last century, they have been other places and know a good thing when they see it! Governor Earl Warren may have had something like that in mind when he said in his Admission Day address: "True Californians have never lived in the past. They are ever ready to come to grips with the tasks of the present. At this turning point in our state's history, we find new encouragement in the fact that our resolve to build a greater and happier state is today being shared by more millions of new citizens than ever before."

So Well Remembered
By James Hilton

After an uninterrupted quiet of some four and a half years, the author of Goodbye Mr. Chipps, and Lost Horizon throws his latest literary efforts into the laps of his fans under the unassuming banner of So Well Remembered. Mr. Hilton has used his famous smooth, subtle style in telling the story of George and Livia.

The period of the novel is both before and during the second World War; the scene is chiefly a small industrial town in the British midlands. This is the story of a remarkable woman and her sinister influence over three men, of clashing wills, and a struggle for mastery that spans a generation and is fought to a bitter end.

Livia was George Boswell's young wife, and that day so well remembered was the day on which Councillor Boswell, later to become Mayor Boswell, had the immense satisfaction of laying the foundation stone of the new housing unit that replaced some of Browdley's worse slums. That day was also the turning point in George's life, the day when he had to face the truth about Livia.

Readers will take sides about George and Livia. If he was a hero in his way, she had courage of a kind he lacked. She was too utterly fearless to be reasonable; he was too reasonable to be utterly fearless. You will not soon forget them or their story.

Mrs. Mary Enochs, her mother, Mrs. J. Taylor, Mrs. Hattie A. Baugh and Mrs. Janice Bohnett were guests last week of Miss Lois Gardner at luncheon in the Hotel St. Claire patio.

The Bell System—the largest source of Radar for our fighting forces

This is not surprising for Radar development and production stems from the same roots that produced and continue to nourish this country's telephone system.

Radar, the instrument which enabled our land, sea and air forces to spot enemy targets through darkness, smoke or fog, was one of the outstanding fighting instruments of the war.

Two years before Pearl Harbor the Government asked Bell Telephone Laboratories to put its wide experience and knowledge of electronics to work to help perfect Radar as a military instrument. From then on the Laboratories cooperated closely in the Radar program with the National Defense Research Committee, with Army and Navy specialists, and with scientists of Great Britain.

The Western Electric Company, manufacturing branch of the Bell System, became the Nation's largest supplier of Radar systems. One type it made was universally used by B-29's in the Pacific for navigation, target location and high altitude bombing. Another played an important part in aiming the guns on our warships.

If you're waiting for a home telephone, it helps a little to know that Radar is one of the reasons. For years telephone manufacturing plants were devoted to war needs.

WIRE AHEAD for Better Living
BETTER LIGHTING
BETTER HEATING
MANY NEW APPLIANCES
ADEQUATE WIRING Certified

Be Prepared Now
for the many NEW Postwar Appliances you'll use in your home

Think back to the home or homes you have lived in, in the past ten years. Remember the inconveniences of house-wiring from lights that blinked when the refrigerator went on, or the wires you strung along the floor to connect a lamp or clock or radio; or the fuses that blew out when you connected the iron? By spending very little extra money on ADEQUATE WIRING...all these things could have been avoided.

Give Adequate Wiring the place it should have in your home. Plan ahead for the many new home appliances, for better lighting, for television, by wiring ahead for 194X living. Carefully check over wiring plans when you remodel or build and make sure the house-wiring has these essentials:

1. Plenty of plug-in outlets.
2. Plenty of light switches properly placed.
3. Wires that are large enough (at least number twelve wire) to supply all the appliances that will be used during the lifetime of your home.
